On November 9, the Ayodhya dispute stood settled in law. In Siddiq v Das, the Supreme Court of India has ruled in favour of Ramlalla Virajman, the deity Ram.

The “distinct architectural characteristics of Hindu and Islamic cultures” pointed the Court to the syncretic Indian culture. Admittedly, the “facts, evidence and oral arguments of the present case” the constitution bench led by Chief Justice Gogoi acknowledged, “have traversed the realms of history, archaeology, religion and the law.”

Read more at: https://www.deccanherald.com/opinion/in-perspective/ayodhya-verdict-the-alchemy-of-judges-775751.html